I am afraid there is no analogy between the Industrial School at Mysore and the institutions in Madras. In Mysore it is intended that the charges should be met from the "Local Fund General" but as I have stated on

Note—Contn sheet

GPB—50 000 -23 10 05

previous occasions there is no real independent fund in Mysore and the charges are to all intents and purposes charges against the General Revenues. The question that should therefore be considered is whether Government is prepared to set aside sufficient funds out of the assets of the so called "Local Fund General" to meet the permanent charges.

2 As remarked by the late Sir K Sheshadri Iyer in ~~the~~ [illegible] memo of 24-9-94 ~~[illegible]~~ ~~[illegible]~~ ~~[illegible]~~, the fund "Local Fund General" is an "unfettered fund", and is generally utilized for works of public utility and more than a lac is being spent annually for constructing bridges &c. As the Establishment and permanent charges of the Industrial school will be a permanent charge upon the fund, I beg it may be considered first whether a certain percentage of the assets of the fund can be made available for meeting the permanent charges now proposed after leaving a sufficient balance for works of public utility.

Sir,

With reference to your docket-No. 11387 Ed (311-03)-2 dated 5/7th May 1906, I have the honour to inform you that the opening of the Mysore Industrial School was sanctioned by an Order on the Education Department, C No 211-32 dated 7th December 1891 and the cost was ordered to be met from the Local Funds General The staff of Superintendent, Masters and clerk engaged originally for the school has been almost wholly broken up by death, re-tirement or dismissal It was understood at the time of the establishment of the School that all who were permanently employed would count their service as pensionable

Service in the Industrial Schools subsequently opened has not been considered to be qualifying for pension, the new schools being taken to be in effect aided institutions On the analogy of the recent practice, as nearly all the men originally employed in the Mysore Industrial School have been dispersed, the committee has made the present proposal that the Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent and writers be placed on the permanent establishment and their service be taken to qualify for pension In the case of masters and teachers of the General education classes, the Committee proposes that they be placed on the permanent establishment after ten years' approved service, on the recommendation of the Committee, and that when they are so placed their services be taken as qualifying for pension from the commencement At present there is only one man on the staff of the Mysore Industrial School, Syed Hussain, Mechanic mastry who was entertained from the date of the opening of the School in 1892, and the pension papers of another mastry are before Government
